The world performs on Harlequin floors

Established in the UK over 45 years ago, Harlequin remains the industry choice for the world's most prestigious dance and performing arts companies, theatres, venues and schools.

Harlequin's reputation is founded on the design, manufacture and supply of a range of high quality portable and permanent sprung and vinyl floors chosen by the world's leading venues - from the Royal Opera House to the Vienna State Opera House, the Paris Opera Ballet to the Royal New Zealand Ballet.

Harlequin is the global leader in its field with offices in Europe, the Americas and Asia Pacific.

Dance

Floors developed for commercial or sports applications do not offer the benefits that dancers appreciate when they talk about the 'feel' of the floor. Only floors developed for dance do that.

A good dance floor instills confidence in dancers to give full expression to their creativity, safe in the knowledge that the dance floor will not let them down.

Harlequin sprung floors offer assurance of better protection from injuries for dancers with reduced risk of injury through impact, slipping or falling. Performers need a floor to absorb the shock of repeated impact to their joints and reduce injury from falls. For optimum safety, it is recommended to install a Harlequin vinyl floor as a dance surface on a Harlequin sprung floor.

Installation:

Ballet, hip hop, tap, lyrical, jazz, acrobatics and modern dance classes are just a few examples of the varied DANCE.LAB curriculum. In order to provide the best injury protection for students and teachers across all the different dance styles, a sprung floor was installed in the studio.

Sprung floors reduce the risk of an injury through impact or from longer-term stress on muscles and joints by gently softening landings and returning energy to the body in a controlled manner. For DANCE.LAB, the Harlequin Flexity panel system was chosen due to its flexibility of use and uncomplicated installation.

The durable Harlequin Reversible Pro performance vinyl was installed on the surface to finish the studio with a smooth dance surface which provides a good level of grip. It is equally suitable for dancers who wear trainers, ballet slippers or who dance with barefeet.

Tanzzentrum

NRW

Overview

Tanzzentrum NRW is a dance school which is located in the front loft of a shopping centre in Bielefeld, Germany. Its 160 m² dance room has plenty of natural light and is used for a number of dance styles, including ballet, jazz, modern pole and even acrobatics.

In Germany, Tanzzentrum is the only dance school offering a state-recognised avocational traineeship for prospective dance teachers. Director Jennifer Bergs developed this concept with the help of two board members of the German Dance Teachers' Association. Having trained as a dance teacher whilst studying law, Ms Bergs wanted to offer this chance to other full-time working dance enthusiasts.

“ A Harlequin floor was my first and only choice because they are simply the best floors on the market. ”

Requirements

Due to the dance studio's varied use, a dance floor was needed which could provide support and protection for many different types of movement. It is also needed to withstand different sources of impact, not only from dancers but also from poles which would be mounted and disassembled regularly for pole dance and pole fitness classes.

Product choice

Installation:

In order to provide maximum protection from injuries, a sprung floor was laid on top of the concrete sub-floor. After consultation with the Harlequin Germany sales team, Ms Bergs chose the Harlequin Flexity sprung floor, an uncomplicated panel system which can be installed by anyone with DIY experience.

Ahead of the installation, Harlequin Sales Manager Thomas Sieber travelled to Bielefeld to ensure that the Harlequin Flexity floor was compatible with the use of poles. After extensive testing, he was satisfied that the poles would not cause any harm to the sprung floor even after long-term use and he gave the go-ahead to the Harlequin installation team.

The studio was finished with black and white Harlequin Reversible Pro performance vinyl, which provides dancers with the right grip. In keeping with the bright room, the double-sided vinyl was installed with its white side up.

Da Rookies

Nutcracker

Classic meets Breakdance

European and World Champions, World Record Breakers as well as Honorary Ambassadors to their hometown of Magdeburg, the German breakdance group Da Rookies boasts many impressive titles, but it is their willingness to experiment which truly sets them apart.

In 2018, they toured their reinvented version of The Nutcracker for the first time and became the first breakdance group to perform to unaltered classical music.

Combining elements of hip-hop, capoeira, breaking and classical ballet, they created a truly unique choreography. However, the b-boys in trainers and the ballet dancer wearing pointe shoes naturally found that their expectations with regard to the dance floor differed somewhat. For the second installment of their tour a year later, they were determined to find a new dance floor which would fit the bill for everyone.

For their 2019/2020 tour, Da Rookies found what they were looking for at Harlequin.

“ The combination of the Harlequin Liberty sprung dance floor with the multi-functional Harlequin FreeStyle vinyl makes for ideal conditions for our dancers, and contributes to the success of our show. ”

Da Rookies

Nutcracker

Requirements

The dance floor surface had to provide enough grip for the ballerina to enable her to dance en pointe and perform pirouettes. However, it could not inhibit the movements of the b-boys, whose trainers provided more grip. The ideal solution turned out to be the padded Harlequin FreeStyle vinyl in combination with a Harlequin Liberty portable sprung floor.

2019/2020 tour

Equipped with their new dance floor, Da Rookies set out to perform at venues across Germany and were met by an ecstatic audience everywhere.

One performance stood out in particular: their 20th anniversary show at an arena in their hometown of Magdeburg, Da Rookies invited an orchestra to accompany them live on stage. Drawing the largest ever crowd to see a classical and break dance crossover, they also managed to break the world record for attendance that same evening.

Our portable Harlequin Liberty sprung floor panels along with the Harlequin FreeStyle vinyl proved to be essential for the success of the show. The dancers felt at ease, and were able to perform their moves without a second thought with regards to the floor's surface.

Additionally, the dancers were able to rely on the sprung floor to protect their joints from strains and impact injuries, which is extremely important for professionals.
